PHD IN GERMAN STUDIES AT RUTGERS STARTING FALL 2024

Doug Chayka

The Graduate Program in German at Rutgers University (New Brunswick) is inviting applications for its Ph.D. program. We foster creative, cross-disciplinary, and critical thinking as well as relations between philology and theory, Jewish Studies, gender and media studies. Successful applicants will receive up to six years of full support that includes health insurance and tuition coverage. Application deadline is January 15, 2024.

To find out more about the program and the application process, we invite you to join German faculty and graduate students at our Zoom Information Session:
