The Short Narrative:
Dreams and Delusions

Description: This course will take you on a journey through roughly 200 years of German literature. We will explore the impact of dreams, delusions, nightmares, and utopias on German culture and discuss the role of the unconscious and personal trauma, love and violence. While focusing on short prose texts, we will also look at a number of films.

Prerequisite: 01:470:232

Taught in German

Required Readings: All texts are available for purchase at the Barnes and Noble campus bookstore. Shorter readings will be distributed in class and can also be downloaded from Sakai prior to class meetings. Downloaded texts should either be printed out (preferred option) or brought to class in a readily accessible and easy-to-highlight electronic form.

Department Policies

o Attendance

All students must attend regularly and arrive prepared; if you expect to miss one or two classes, please use the University absence reporting website <https://sims.rutgers.edu/ssra/> to indicate the date and reason for your absence. An email is automatically sent to me. Those who miss more than two class sessions without a compelling excuse should expect a one-step reduction in the course grade (i.e. an A becomes a B+, a B+ becomes a B). Three late arrivals count as one absence. Note: It is the responsibility of students who have been absent (for any reason) to find out what they have missed and obtain materials that may have been handed out.

o Disability Support Services

Students who may be requesting accommodations due to disabilities are encouraged to familiarize themselves with procedures and policies regarding disability support services at the following website: <http://disabilityservices.rutgers.edu/>. It is recommended that students seeking accommodations begin filing paperwork as soon as possible as the documentation review process may take up to 30 business days. Students are encouraged to speak with teachers about these issues at the beginning of the term. All such conversations will be kept strictly confidential.

o Academic Integrity

Violations of academic integrity are an extremely serious matter, and can lead to a student's failing the course and being referred to the University's Office of Student Conduct for disciplinary action. When referring to ideas other than your own, always acknowledge your sources clearly and completely, whether you are quoting or paraphrasing. Note also that use of online translation services is not permitted as a tool for generating work that you submit for course credit. Please see the University's policies on academic integrity at <http://academicintegrity.rutgers.edu/>, and discuss with your instructor any questions you may have about this and related issues.

Important Additional Information:

Cell phones and all other technological devices (beepers, iPods, MP3players...) must be turned off during class. Failure to comply may result in dismissal from class and a drop in class participation grade.

Office hours: Students are strongly advised to consult with the professor about any problems that might arise regarding ideas for presentations, material to be covered in a paper, etc. Office hours are Mondays between 4:15 and 6:00 p.m. – or by appointment. Do not bottle up all questions for the session before a paper is due.
